

Preparing your space for homesharing

Sometimes making space for something or someone new takes some help. Here are a few services to get you started cleaning and preparing your space for homesharing.

What we like

Lilly's Organizing provides virtual one-to-one organization services and the option for in-home expertise that will travel anywhere in the contiguous US.

Learn more

What we like

For handyman projects of all sizes with flexible timeframes as soon as today, TaskRabbit is here to help. Find a Tasker in your city to assist with home repairs, moving items, furniture assembly and more.

Learn more

What we like

Need to get your home ready for listing photos or free up space for a housemate? Downsizing to move into a shared home? 1-800-JUNK is available nationwide to provide full-service cleanout and moving assistance.

Learn more

Spotlight

Recommended Read: Keep the Memories, Lose the Stuff

The latest book from expert Matt Paxton is a treatise on downsizing and decluttering to take control of your life.

Preparing yourself for homesharing

Annamarie Pluhar literally wrote the book on homesharing. She hosts a range of online courses to help prepare for homesharing and how to navigate healthy housemate relationships.

Sharing Housing | Homesharing 101

This course walks homesharers through each step of the process from a firsthand perspective and provides a map for how to interview and vet potential housemates.

Handling rent payments

Handling rent payments each month can be a pain. We recommend setting up online payments or autopay with your housemate to avoid tracking down checks each month. Here are a few recommended online payment providers you can use to make the homesharing experience smoother.

Zelle

What we like

Zelle allows you and your housemate to exchange funds directly to and from your bank accounts, even if they bank somewhere different than you do. It's also very easy to use.

venmo

What we like

Venmo allows you to pay and get paid by linking your bank account or credit card to your Venmo mobile app.

PayPal

What we like

PayPal allows you to send and receive money through your desktop or the PayPal mobile app.

Spotlight

In addition to scheduling automated transfers for rent, WellPaid allows you and your housemate to track expenses and split bills for things like cable, utilities and even non-recurring payments like groceries or home supplies.

Scam alert! Never agree to pay for a deposit or rent without signing a lease or homesharing agreement and without meeting and touring a home first.

Renters insurance

It is important for any renter to purchase renters insurance to cover their belonging and to protect against liability for damage they might accidentally cause to a property. Nearly all major insurance providers (State Farm, Nationwide, etc.) offer renters insurance.

Spotlight

Lemonade

Lemonade offers hassle-free renters and homeowners insurance. Lemonade is a fully licensed and regulated insurance company, which means that they underwrite, price and sell policies, as well as handling and paying claims. Lemonade policies are primarily sold through their website or mobile app. Renters insurance starts at as low as $5/month.